

IIMSN Smart Grid

Smart Grid is an electrical system that ensures the exchange of electrical energy within one power network from different distributed sources to consumers with different demand characteristics.

CC-IIMSN definition: Smart Grid means that different electrical grid elements must now exchange data with the “outside world”
→ a communication system is required.